Upperville's Own Alison Robitaille Races to One-Two Finish in 1.40m Open Jumpers at Upperville Colt & Horse Show

Tuesday morning's action at the 2021 Upperville Colt & Horse Show (UCHS) kicked off in the B&D Builders Jumper Ring I with the 1.40m Open Jumpers and the North American Young Jumper Development Program (NAYJDP) Rising Star Stakes, with two winners originally from Virginia. Alison Robitaille placed first and second in the 1.40m Open Jumpers with Happiness and Cocobelle 3, respectively, while Brooke Kemper and TikTok Z won the NAYJDP Rising Star Stakes to claim the division championship.

The 1.40m Open Jumpers kicked off the division Tuesday morning featuring a field of 25 entries, many of whom are preparing for Thursday's $30,000 Upperville American Standard Grand Prix. Early in the class, Cathleen Driscoll set the time to beat with a double-clear effort aboard Plain Bay Sales' Consul, breaking the beam at 31.24 seconds. The time held up until Robitaille entered the ring with her first mount, Happiness, owned by Alison Firestone LLC. Using her new mount's quick foot speed and making inside turns, she was able to top the leaderboard for her clear effort in 30.5 seconds. Robitaille was also the last to go with Alison Firestone LLC's Cocobelle 3, and while she was already guaranteed to win the class, she still put on the gas to dash through the timers in 30.80 seconds without tipping any rails, picking up second place as well, while Driscoll moved to third place.

Robitaille has only been riding Happiness since March, having purchased the talented 9-year-old KWPN mare from Ashford Farm's Enda Carroll after only seeing her in a video. While the UCHS is a home show for Robitaille, managing her time as both a mother and a professional athlete can prove complicated. Despite missing the class course walk, Robitaille was able to compartmentalize and refocus when she arrived at the show with both her new horse Happiness and Cocobelle 3, an 8-year-old Oldenberg mare who is just moving up to the 1.40m division, to claim both of the top ribbons.

Earlier in the day, Kemper, who was raised in McGaheysville, Virginia, and is now based out of Ocala, Florida, and Keswick, Virginia won the NAYJDP Rising Star Stakes aboard Andra Sinclair's TikTok Z. She posted the only double-clear performance aboard the 4-year-old Zangersheide gelding by Toulon. Kemper and TikTok Z also won the NAYJCP Style class Monday to capture the division's championship title. She was thrilled with her brave, young mount's performance and is looking forward to developing him for the future of the sport.

International competition at the Upperville Colt & Horse Show will begin Thursday with the $37,000 FEI 4* Power & Speed Stakes presented by Sotheby's Realty, followed by the $30,00 Upperville American Standard Grand Prix, presented by The Ingram Family. The 1.40m Open Jumpers will kick off the day Wednesday morning at 8 a.m. in the B&D Builders Jumper Ring I.

Holly Orlando and Samantha Schaefer Capture Green 3'3" Hunter Championships at Upperville Colt & Horse Show

The Green Hunter divisions took center stage under the oaks on Tuesday at the Upperville Colt & Horse Show (UCHS). After sweeping the division, Holly Orlando and Waypoint Farm LLC's Waverly claimed the Green 3'3" Hunters Section A division championship, while the Green 3'3" Hunters Section B division championship went to Samantha Schaefer riding Deep Creek Farm's Next Request. Orlando and Waverly also rode to a first place finish in the USHJA Green 3'3" Hunter Incentive Stake.

Holly Orlando and Waverly earned two firsts over fences before going on to win the under saddle class during the Green 3'3" Hunters Section A, sweeping the division to take home the division's championship title. The reserve championship honors in the division were presented to Winn Alden aboard Sincerely, owned by EMO Stables. Alden and Sincerely received a second place over fences and rode to a second place finish under saddle to earn the reserve tricolor.

Orlando was thrilled with Waverly's performance, noting that the 8-year-old Hanoverian mare always wants to win and tries her best every time they enter the ring. They most recently competed at the Old Salem Spring Horse Shows where they also won the championship title during both weeks of competition.

In the Green 3'3" Hunters Section B, Schaefer and Next Request, the 10-year-old KWPN mare, earned the championship honors after receiving a first place over fences as well as a second place finish on the flat.

Schaefer has been competing at the UCHS her entire life, but she believes each win is special. Next Request is still a relatively new mount for Schaefer and she is thrilled with the mare's progress as she prepares to show with owner Liz Tarumian in the Amateur Hunters later this week.

Competition in the hunter divisions at the UCHS will continue Wednesday, June 9, beginning at 8 a.m, featuring the professional hunters and concluding with the presentation of the Grand Hunter Championship as well as the Leading Rider.
